Some of the flying WW1 replica aircraft you might see at Great War Fly-in & Concourse...

The Saint Louis Escadrille is hosting its fourth World War One aviation fly-in and antique auto concourse event, The Great War Fly-in & Concourse on September 29 and 30, 2001 from 9am to 4pm, outdoors along the main runway of Creve Coeur Airport (1H0) in Saint Louis, Missouri.

The event will feature replica WW1 aircraft from across North America (weather and volunteers permitting). Pilots and builders will be on-hand to answer questions and encourage you to join the fun by building and flying your own homebuilt WW1 replica fighter.

This event is a fly-in where volunteers present replica and historical displays of aircraft, autos, and other items from 1903 to 1929. It is not an airshow and it is not a fair.

Admission is free but there is a daily $5 per vehicle parking fee.
